```
import csv
import random

random.seed(1)  # same data every time you run it departments = ["Computer Science", "Cyber Security", "Software Engineering", "Information Technology"]

levels = [100, 200, 300, 400]

with open("students.csv", "w", newline="") as file:
    writer = csv.writer(file)
    writer.writerow(["Student_ID", "Department", "Level", "Attendance_Percentage", "Average_Exam_Score"])

    for i in range(1, 31):  # 30 fictional students student_id = f"STU{i:03d}" department = random.choice(departments) level = random.choice(levels) attendance = random.randint(50, 100) score = random.randint(35, 95) writer.writerow([student_id, department, level, attendance, score])

print("students.csv created")
```